

A NEW INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION? LABOR, TECHNOLOGY AND THE AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY

Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna | Pisa
Aula 6 - 10:30-17:00
31 May 2018

Morning Session:

Lost in innovation? Labor in the new industrial revolution

10.30-10.45

Welcome speech by Alessandro Nuvolari

10.45-11.00

Introduction by organizers

11.00-11.30 Stefano Musso

How does technological innovation affect work and workers? A historical overview on Italian manufacturing

11.30-12.00 Paola Tubaro

Micro-work, artificial intelligence and the automotive industry

12.00-12.30 Angelo Salento

Constraints and decisions in the domain 'Industry 4.0'

12.30- 13.00

Discussions and questions

Afternoon session:

The case of automotive industry

14.00-14.30 Massimo Moggi

A taxonomy of new technologies in the automotive sector: disruptive or incremental innovations?

14.30-15.00 Tommaso Pardi

The future of work in the automotive sector: a general overview

15.00-15.30 Francesco Garibaldo

The role of trade unions and workers initiative in the innovation process

15.30-16.00 Valeria Cirillo, Matteo Rinaldini, Jacopo Staccioli, Marica Virgillito

Workers' awareness context in Italian 4.0 factories

16.00-17.00

Discussion, questions and conclusions

Contatti:

Armanda Cetrulo a.cetrulo@santannapisa.it

Laura Ferrari l.ferrari@santannapisa.it

Tel. 050338843